Summary of reasons for decision:

This document was submitted for classification on behalf of the Commissioner of Police, under s13(1)(ab) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993. It deals with the creation of explosive devices, but lacks any information on acquiring or manufacturing the required explosive compounds. As a result, it is unlikely that the unrestricted availability of the publication would be injurious to the public good. Therefore 'Improvised Munitions Handbook - Chapter II Section II' is classified as unrestricted. This classification is consistent with the New Zealander's right to seek, receive, and impart information and opinions of any kind in any form, as set out in s14 of the New Zealand Bill Of Rights Act 1990.
